THE Pennsylvania Dutch

In the heart of the Lebanon Valley lies the small community of Annville, where life continues through its cycle of birth and death. Education not forgotten however, finds its vent in the curriculum of Lebanon Valley College. Named for the rolling fields of farm land and the flowing streams of mountain water, this school depicts the strength of character which the Pennsylvania Dutch possess. Thus we, the future graduates of 1955, present our book of time, "The Quittie," in a similar plan of character following that which the settlers of this valley exhibited when they named this region "The Lebanon Valley."

Dedication

We, the class of 1955, sincerely apologize for having to dedicate this yearbook to one who is deserving of a much higher honor.

We would like to give him so much more; however, we, as a junior class, feel that this yearbook, which will become one of our most cherished possessions, is the best tangible means of expressing our gratitude.

Two years ago he came to our campus. In those two years all of us have learned to respect his ability, but more important we have learned to know him as a friend. His accomplishments have been termed by many as being miraculous, but even they are over-shadowed by the man himself.

Therefore, we dedicate our yearbook to our teacher, our friend, our coach, our "Rinso."

Faculty and Administration

Dr. Miller

Dr. Frederick K. Miller graduated from Lebanon Valley College in 1929 and received his A.M. degree from the University of Pennsylvania two years later. He then went into high school teaching and then returned to his Alma Mater as professor of history. From this position he was elevated to assistant to the President. When Dr. Clyde Lynch died in 1950, Dr. Miller was made acting President of the college until his election to that position. In November 1951, he was inaugurated as the twelfth president of Lebanon Valley College.

In this capacity Dr. Miller has become a friend to all the students through his understanding of their problems as a group and as individuals. With him as president, Lebanon Valley College continues to do its job in educating students for the future in the academic as well as the social realm.

Reverend Thomas S. May

Assistant to the President

Reverend Thomas S. May graduated from Lebanon Valley College in 1934. After attending Bonebrake Theological Seminary he served as pastor of the First Evangelical United Brethren Church in Harrisburg from 1937 to 1944. In 1944 he assumed the pastorate of the Hershey First Evangelical United Brethren Church. He was elected a trustee of Lebanon Valley College in October, 1952.

The following year on October 1, 1953, Reverend May began his duties in the newly created administrative office of assistant to the president. In addition to assisting President Miller in various duties, Reverend May is responsible for acquiring new friends for Lebanon Valley College.

As a pastor, Reverend May considered his ministry as both his vocation and his avocation. As assistant to the president at Lebanon Valley, he is actively interested in the welfare of the school. In his contacts on behalf of the college, Reverend May's warm personality and enthusiasm for his work cannot but reflect the friendly spirit of Lebanon Valley.

Dean Howard M. Kreitzer

Dean of Students, academic dean, Howard M. Kreitzer hails originally from Mechanicsburg, Pennsylvania. A Bachelor of Science graduate of Bloomsburg State Teachers College, Dean Kreitzer continued his education at New York University and Temple where he respectively received his MA and DED degrees.

As a recipient of the latter degree, Dean Kreitzer continued his residence at Temple in the capacity as a personnel worker. Coming to the Valley only two semesters ago, Dean Kreitzer has capably carried on the functions as Dean of Students. Along with this full time job, Dean Kreitzer has also tentatively filled in a vacant position in the psychology department.

Dean Constance P. Dent

Although Dean Constance P. Dent came to Lebanon Valley just three short years ago, she has already endeared herself to all the Valley students.

Going from her home state of New Jersey to Bucknell University where she graduated in 1945, Dean Dent came to us after several years of experience in social case work and personnel work.

She has been interviewed by several national magazines and is considered one of the outstanding Deans of Women in the country.

Because of her great understanding of young girls and her personal interest in those of us at Lebanon Valley, we are greatly indebted to her, not only for all the benefits she has achieved for us, but also for her warm friendliness and wise guidance.

Dean Theodore D. Keller

Professor Keller was born and raised here in the Lebanon Valley, having lived in Lebanon for most of his twenty-eight years. After graduating from Lebanon High School in 1944, Dean Keller entered Lebanon Valley College where he became the recipient of a Bachelor of Arts degree. He then went on to graduate school at Columbia University where he received his Master of Arts degree with a major in English.

Dean Keller is very familiar with the continent of Europe. During World War II he served his country both in the Rheinland and the Central Europe campaigns. Then in 1952 Mr. Keller visited the continent as a tourist.

He became Acting Dean of Men in September 1953. Besides having the many responsibilities of his administrative position, he also teaches four English courses—English Composition, Eighteenth Century Literature, The Novel, and Poetry of the Romantic Movement.

A May Day Pageant

Directed by Betty Jane Bowman
Story by Lucie Portier

MAY DAY 1954

In Spring a young man's fancy is supposed to turn to thoughts of love, but several Valleyites have their minds on baseball and traveling. Their would-be sweethearts are alone and rather disconsolate. The two girls decide to take a trip to Toyland—Wonderful boy and girl land. Taking the hint the boys hurriedly pack their suitcases and hop on the train just in time.

Upon their arrival, the couples decide they are hungry. Some basket laden panda bears arrive and set up a delicious looking picnic lunch. Then the pandas invite the couples to share their fun.

At the end of the meal the biggest bear claps his hands and a group of lollipops appear. Each bear claims his favorite one, but has to chase it to get it.

The boys are tired of the frolicking and decide to play baseball. Several athletes run in carrying large balls which the boys attempt in vain to steal.

Both the girls and the boys turn their attention to the antics of the tumblers and the games of the boxes. A group of stuffed animals now join the dance, and some soldiers and ballerinas are seen dancing in the background.

The two Valley coeds seemingly fall in love with the guards; Steve and Bill rush in to rescue their girl friends.

This was the story of May Day—1954, presented in honor of the May Queen, Darlene Moyer and her court.

Things changed a lot the last while back.

STUDENT-FACULTY COUNCIL

"... to foster understanding and cooperation between the students and the faculty of Lebanon Valley College, and to advance the welfare of the student body through the coordination of student activities."
 ... So states the purpose of the Student-Faculty Council's Constitution. And the Council attempt to do just that. Under the leadership of Sam Yeagley in the early fall, and later under the direction of Bill Kelly, who replaced Sam upon his induction into the Armed Services, the Student-Faculty Council has met twice a month in an effort to create better relations between organizations, governing bodies, and students.

THE FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

The local FTA chapter is one of the most active organizations here at Lebanon Valley College. Devoted to the teaching profession, the members are guided under the distinct leadership of Dr. Gilbert McKlveen, faculty advisor.

Holding many post honors and distinguished positions on the national level, the club has grown rapidly since it received its charter.

The annual FTA Day on campus is looked forward to with interest by the student body as well as the faculty.

The future promises still higher esteem and position for the organization on both the local and national scenes.

WIG AND BUCKLE

The Wig and Buckle Club, the dramatics organization on campus, gives the student participants experience in acting, lighting, staging and directing. This year's group under the leadership of Joan Rosenberry, presented The Male Animal as the fall production. The play was directed by the club's advisor, Dr. Charles Sloca, and starred Joan Rosenberry and Tom Folfgang.

No Room In the Hotel, a one act play, was presented at Christmas time under the direction of Claire Kelly, and in conjunction with the annual Student Christian Association Christmas program.

Dorothy Roudabush directed a one-act play, The Safecracker's Pride which was presented Scholarship weekend under the sponsorship of the Sophomore class.

GREEN BLOTTER CLUB

Green Blotter Club is an organization for creative writers at Lebanon Valley College. At monthly meetings, held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Struble, the members read and discuss their manuscripts. Often the conversation branches out into a discussion of art, folk legends, history, natural science or similar topics.

Highlight of this year's program was the December meeting at which Colonel Henry W. Shoemaker of the State Archives in Harrisburg was guest speaker. An authority on the subject, Colonel Shoemaker spoke to the group on the topic "Reasons for Collecting Pennsylvania Folklore."

The May Day pageant this year, with toyland as its theme, was based on a story written by Lucie Portier, former president of Green Blotter.

Every year the group issues the Green Blotter Supplement, a collection of poems, short stories, and essays by the members representative of their writings. This year the Green Blotter Supplement was published in the January 14 issue of La Vie Collegienne. Throughout the year the club members have also had a manuscript printed in each issue of the college newspaper in the column "Ink Spots from Green Blotter."

Janice Walker is Head Scop and Adora Rabiger, Keeper of the Word Horde. Other members include Roger Dundore, Paul Holligan, Lucie Portier, Dorothy Roudabush, Frances Thomas, and Dick Shover. Members are voted into the club on the basis of their manuscripts which are customarily submitted anonymously.

Activities of Editorial Staff Supplement Work of Reporters

A small but loyal group of workers composed the editorial staff of La Vie this year. In addition to writing their regular assignments as did the other reporters, these people helped the editor in various ways in the process of transforming typewritten news stories into printed newspaper pages.

On deadline night—usually Monday evening when the paper was issued on Thursday—all of the news stories had to be typed and headlines had to be written for them. Joan Conway, Mildred Greybeck, JoAnne Grove, Linden McVane, and Glenda Scott usually formed the "work crew" on Monday evenings. The pages were made up on Tuesday nights. (By make-up is meant page lay-out, deciding what position different stories will occupy on the pages.) Audrey DaCosta, Diane Kohr, Dorothy Roundbush, and Donald VanCook often helped with this task, while Wednesday nights found Carol Dammattel and Wilbur Priester reading page proof with the editor.

It was the duty of the exchange editors Martha Brubaker, Patricia Gordon, and Arlene Reynolds to mail approximately 75 copies of each issue of the paper to other colleges. La Vie advertisers, and subscribers. Publication of La Vie would have been impossible without the activities of these students on the editorial staff.

news made it necessary for the staff to publish a six-page paper instead of the usual four pages. Everyone on campus seemed surprised and pleased with this issue, but lack of news, funds, and workers did not permit the staff to have another such edition. Lack of the same three factors also made it necessary for the staff to issue a two-page paper later in the year.

On Thursday, April 1, the campus was surprised with the edition of a two-page April Fool's issue. Since the paper is regularly issued on Thursdays every other week, April 1 was the date for the tenth number of the paper—but its lopsided contents fooled EVC. Another issue with something special was the January number. Its third page contained a Green Blotter Supplement, for it contained only work by the members of this writers' club—stories, poems, and essays.

La Vie has also been able to surprise its readers with two important news developments unknown to the general public before appearing in the newspaper. These included the publication of the seniors who were honored by selection in Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges in November and the announcement of the May Queen and her court in March.

Adora Rabiger to Serve as Newspaper Editor

Adora Rabiger will continue to serve as editor of La Vie Collegienne for the 1954-1955 school term. Dr. George G. Struble, editorial adviser to the newspaper, has announced.

Other names on the masthead next year will include assistant editors, JoAnne Grove and Linden McVane; sports editor, Richard Shover; feature editor, Dorothy Roundbush; Conservatory editors, Ardith Ganner and Marian Hess; and business manager, David Portier. Freshmen JoAnne Grove and Linden McVane are being promoted from the position of reporters to that of assistant editors while Richard Shover, also a freshman, is taking over the sports page after having been a sports reporter. The other people named above served in the same positions last year.

Adora Rabiger has been on the staff since her freshman year when she served as exchange editor. As a sophomore she assisted editor-in-chief Barbara Rank. In the fall of 1953 Barbara and Adora served as co-editors until Barbara resigned because of the pressures of her studies, student teaching, and numerous activities.

Adora is an English major interested in careers in either journalism or teaching. This year Adora has also been corresponding secretary of Ohio, secretary of Green Blotter Club, editor of the L. Brook, and a member of the Quinté staff, Student-Faculty Council, and Future Teachers of America.

Typical La Vie Office Scene, Writers Cover Valley Athletics

The picture above is a typical scene in the La Vie office—typing the latest news articles, looking up words in the dictionary, jostling down last minute headlines.

Shown here are two of the four sports writers for La Vie this year—James Dukes and Donald VanCook. "Cookie" and Herb Ely served as sports editors while Jim and Dick Shover reported under them.

Cookie was usually responsible for the layout and the headlines on the sports page while Dick specialized in reporting on intramural athletics and Herb wrote "The 'I' Men." The latter was a column which featured a different Valley athlete each issue, including a personal interview and a photograph of the individual.

Sixth Column

La Vie Collegienne . . . the life of the college . . . its staff members really were active in the life of the college this year, too . . . La Vie workers include class officers, a varsity basketball player, dorm presidents, the yearbook editor, chemistry and business students, the president of FTA, musicians, and mathematicians, and the president of the Student Christian Association. The people who write for this newspaper are busy and active but they're also humans with all of their ups and downs, personality clashes, joys and sorrows—and romances. In March, for example, out of 39 people, nine were engaged. Here's hoping that everyone in this fifth of the staff will soon be very happily married!

On the staff the La Vie office is an institution in itself . . . who that has ever typed there could forget our two machines—the one with the huge carriage twice as wide as the keyboard and the other one which you never can remember how to set for double space? . . . no one remembers how to set the margins on the big one, either . . . yearbooks have been stored in that little room in Washington Hall as long as we can remember . . . exchange papers are always piled high on the table . . . in the fall we can see the setting sun out of the window but in the winter if we open it and look out we may be

First Semester Issues Win Second-Class

The Associated Collegiate Press has awarded La Vie Collegienne a second class honor for the first semester of the 1953-1954 college year. Previously, the newspaper has received honors ranging from third to first class ratings.

Copies of the newspaper issued second semester are also being submitted to this national association for judging, but this rating will not be announced until September.

Many new features have been added to La Vie Collegienne this year which have improved its appearance and obtained increased reader interest.

The second page feature "Sixth Column" has been given a prominent position on the last page, while Gansers' Notes and Pinky's Patter are regularly occupying the fifth column of page two. The latter is a feature written by Dorothy Roundbush, in which she usually has a poll of students, asking them various questions from their opinion of matchups to their plans for Valentine's Day.

New columns this year include Ink Spots from Green Blotter—manuscripts by Green Blotter members; The Secretary Reports important items from Student-Faculty Council meeting compiled by secretary Mary Lou Young; LAMPost—an opinionated column by Adele Marie Portier; and The "L" Men—interviews of Valley athletes by Herbert Ely.

Advertisements have given the newspaper much revenue this year. Under the direction of business adviser Robert G. Riley, several local and national advertisements have been secured by David Failing and

Staff Ends Thirtieth Year of Publication, Recalls Unusual Issues and News Stories

During the past nine months La Vie has been issued twelve times. As its French title suggests, La Vie Collegienne has portrayed the life of the college in its pages. This work has been possible only with the cooperation of the people shown above. Some are reporters and typists, others take care of finances and circulation, but each has contributed in some way to the success of the newspaper during the past year.

Recalling the year's issues, one realizes that much time and effort are required to produce each publication. The work includes assigning news to be reported, securing ads, obtaining news and writing articles, typing, writing headlines, laying out the pages, proofreading, distributing the papers, and mailing out the exchange copies to other colleges.

FRENCH CLUB

The French Club, advised by Mrs. Frank and Dr. Struble meets each month at Dr. Struble's home. Its program includes some slides on the lives of French authors, learning something of the French way of life, and playing French games. One of the highlights of the year was a French dinner served by Mrs. Frank, in February. The club provides an excellent opportunity for speaking French informally.

PSYCHOLOGY CLUB

The Psychology Club, under the leadership of President Clarence Ulrich, had a very successful year, learning about the various phases of psychology and the jobs available in these fields. Guest speakers from the immediate area or movies were featured at each meeting.

THE STUDENT CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

Again this year the Student Christian Association has been one of the leading organizations on our Lebanon Valley College campus. From the very first day of the college year when the SCA members are on hand to greet the in-coming Freshmen, to May Day in the Spring, the SCA is in the midst of the hustle and bustle of college activity, making its presence known and appreciated.

Under the leadership of Lucie Portier, this year's president, and Dr. Sparks and Professor Ehrhart, the SCA has sponsored a Christmas and Easter cantata, a hayride for Christmas caroling, a Weekend Work Retreat at the Brethren Service Center, New Windsor, Maryland, and an active part in the planning of Religious Emphasis Week, plus unlimited assistance in the May Day activities.

POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB

The Political Science Club, whose purposes it is to give practical training in the mechanics of government and to stimulate thought in all fields of political science; to secure information relating to the political sciences through addresses by guest speakers; to train students of Lebanon Valley College for participation in the Inter-Collegiate Conference on Government; and to foster friendships by means of social activities, was led capably by its president James Fry.

William Gargone and Sidney Hoffing, student-chairman and assistant student-chairman to Inter-Collegiate Conference on Government respectively, took a complete delegation of students to the Regional meeting held in Hershey on March 6 and the State Convention in Harrisburg on April.

Outside of the annual convention, the organization was extremely active. The two socials in February and May proved a huge success. And the club needs to be complimented on the fine manner it once more handled the basketball programs concessions.

PI GAMMA MU

Pi Gamma Mu is a social science honor society of national scope. Its purpose is to improve scholarship and to achieve synthesis in the social studies; to inspire social service to humanity by an intelligent approach to the solution of social problems; to engender sympathy toward others with different opinions and institutions by a better mutual understanding; and to supplement and support existing social science organizations by promoting sociability and attendance at meetings. The privilege of membership in the society is granted to those who have shown unusual interest and aptitude in the field of social studies.

The high point of the year's activity was the annual banquet on March 26 in the Palmyra American Legion Home.

CHEMISTRY CLUB

The Chem Club, centered around the Lebanon Valley Chapter of the Student Affiliates of The American Chemical Society, sponsors a varied program of activities and invites all students who have an interest in chemistry to join in. Among these activities are regular meetings at which lectures are followed with refreshments, the club's annual dinner dance, several field trips to industrial and governmental research laboratories, publication of the bi-weekly "Filtrates and Residues" and semi-annual "Lab Oratory," and sale of lab aprons, Lange's Handbook, and other accessories to the student chemists.

This years activities were highlighted by a trip to the Natonal Health Foundation Laboratories, sponsorship of a radio program every two weeks, and a guest speaker from the F.B.I.

TRI - BETA

The Alpha Zeta Chapter of Beta Beta Beta National Biological Society is the first of its kind on Lebanon Valley's campus. The charter group of sixteen was initiated April 28, 1953 by Dr. A. A. Sturdivant of Western Maryland College. Because of its strict requirements, the society has grown slowly but steadily since that time. It is hoped that in time it will play a prominent role in the life and activities of the college. This society has replaced the Biology Club and has as its counselor Dr. V. Earl Light, head of the biology department. Richard Musselman has been given the honor of being Alpha Zeta's first president. Tri-Beta chose as its main project of the year blood typing. The members typed blood of the college students free of charge giving them special cards containing their blood type. This initial project was a success and was praised by many. To round out the year's activities, the members were entertained in the spring at Dr. Light's where a weiner roast was held.

KNIGHTS OF THE VALLEY

This year the Knights of the Valley under the very capable leadership of President Dick Musselman and advisor "Rinso" Marquette, again sought new lands to conquer. This year the conquest was in the form of the local laundry service. If someone asked you why you hadn't changed your sheets since Christmas, you could bet that he was Knight in search of soiled laundry.

The organization once again undertook its usual activities, most outstanding of which was the very successful formal dinner-dance at the Hotel New Brunswick in Lancaster on April 3. The members were also seen prior to Christmas with high stacks of Christmas cards for sale.

NEW JERSEY CLUB

Headed by President Henry Chudzikiewicz the club continued its many activities. This year a social and a dance were part of their many plans. As the name implies membership is limited to New Jersey students, this being the only qualification. The club was organized during Christmas of 1951 at which time a constitution was proposed and eventually drafted a year later. The objective of this club as stated in the constitution is to "bring together on the Lebanon Valley campus the students from New Jersey in order to form an Alumni Association and to add to the social, academic and athletic life of New Jersey students on campus.

More popularly called the Math-Physics Club, the Einstein club provides an opportunity for students interested in science, particularly math and physics, to meet in a collective pursuit of entertainment and edification. The club activities include lectures, socials, field trips, and special projects. Currently it is sponsoring a series of talks on hobbies in which members bring their hobbies into the meeting room and describe, with demonstrations, what they are doing in their "leisure time."

LIFE WORK RECRUITS

Those students who are deeply interested in religious work and have dedicate their lives to full time Christian service as ministers, missionaries, or lay workers in the Church are banded together in this organization. Its aims is to further the Kingdom of God, to enrich the spiritual life of its members, and to help prepare them for Christian leadership. The group sends teams of young people into churches each week where they take charge of services. The club also makes a number of visits to charity institutions during the year.

In all they do they are following the challenge: "Go ye therefore, and teach all nations . . ." St. Matthew 28:19.

KAPPA LAMBDA SIGMA

Kappa Lambda Sigma, the largest men's society on campus, began its activities way back in 1877. Now operating under a newly revised constitution, Kalo, as it is popularly known, is striving to "foster the intellectual and social interests of its members in this order of importance: weld them into a common union; assist the College and its students whenever called upon; promote knowledge, morality, and friendship."

Although the proposed play, The Crucible, never became a reality, nevertheless the annual Kalo-

Delphian weekend proved a larger success than ever. Their dinner dance which was held amidst the beautiful atmosphere of the Reading Country. Over one hundred and thirty people attended and the music of Bob Allenbach was well appreciated.

This year the organization in its 76th year, has initiated over twenty new members and the club which is headed by Ralph Minnick is unified and financially successful.

DELTA LAMBDA SIGMA

Delta Lambda Sigma, better known as Delphian is the sister society to Kalo. It holds monthly meetings and joint-meetings with Kalo. This organization has accomplished a great deal this year. The society put more emphasis on the idea of helping others. This year the girls were working to make life a bit brighter for some not as fortunate as themselves. They adopted an orphanage and threw a Christmas party for the orphans, complete with presents and lots of Christmas cheer. Other projects somewhat similar are in the offing for next year. The society also tried its hand at a book sale. Along the social line Delphian has held several Open Houses in Delphian Hall which were always a success. Once again this year Delphian held its annual dinner-dance at the Reading Country Club in conjunction with Kalo.

PHI LAMBDA SIGMA

Philo, the oldest society on campus, had particularly good success this year in its activities. Taking in over fifteen initiates, the club is now operating under its constitution which is only one year old.

With Bob Krieg as president the society sponsored several successful social events. Besides having one of the best organized rush weeks, the club, along with its sister society Kappa Lambda Nu, had their annual spring formal and St. Patrick's day social. This year they also innovated a Halloween masquerade ball.

Phi Lambda Sigma also held their annual stag night and formal installation of next year's officers. Now with one of the largest and most unified clubs in its long history, Philo expects even better things for next year.

KAPPA LAMBDA NU

Kappa Lambda Nu, the older of the girls' societies on campus, upheld the high ideals, which have always been cherished by her members, throughout the year's activities. The girls strive to live up to the motto, "Virtue et fide," as the wise old owl and the goddess of wisdom, Minerva, watch over and inspire them.

This year's undertakings included the annual pledge tea and fashion show, given at the home of Clio's advisor, Mrs. Ruth Bender; a Halloween dance, where prizes were given for the best masquerades; an informal initiation in which prospective members had to prove their worth and willingness to join the organization; and a trip to the Lebanon County Old Peoples' Home. The girls provided entertainment and refreshments in conjunction with the Lebanon Soroptimist Club.

With her brother society, Philo, Clio presented the play, A Murder Has Been Arranged. The annual Clio-Philo Dinner-dance was held in April at the Berkshire Hotel in Reading. St. Patrick's Day was celebrated by a dance in the auxiliary gym.

At the end of pledge week Clio and Delphian sponsored a dance to honor the newly initiated members.

MISS MARY E. GILLESPIE

The efforts, goals, and standards of the Lebanon Valley Conservatory of Music are personified in the occupant of the main office of that building. Since 1930 Miss Gillespie has been shouldering the responsibilities of running a well-organized and productive conservatory. Having obtained her Bachelor of Science and Masters degrees in Music Education from Columbia University, she taught for five years at the University of Delaware; after which she joined our faculty.

The accreditation of our conservatory is in major portion due to the earnest and intense work of this Scotch-Irish Trojon from Seymour, Indiana. Miss Gillespie has set a fine example for all future music teachers by being, herself, devoted to her job and her school, and by constantly striving to improve and better the standards for which she is responsible.

MEMORIAL

*"Music it was we brought from heav'n,
On an angel's breath so pure,
And it alone may we carry back,
As a thing which shall endure."*

—Samuel R. Gaines

The memories of Professor E. P. Rutledge, which will long remain in the hearts of those who knew, loved, and worked under him, can never be divorced from music—be it choral or instrumental. His life was devoted to music and to people—he could give a smile as quickly as he could a down-beat.

There can be no tribute raised to this man except to continue to nourish the seeds which he planted—seeds of harmony in music and life.

MARCHING BAND

The nipping fall winds, the smell of football in the air, the shouts from the grandstands, and then the blue and white band comes marching down the field. The presence of the L. V. C. marching band at all the football games has proved to be invaluable to the players and the fans. Since the untimely death of Professor Edward P. Rutledge in January of '54, Professor Frank Stachow, assisted by head drum major, Dave Council, has taken charge of the marching band.

MAJORETTES

The high-stepping majorettes of L. V. C. showed splendid marching form during this past year's football season. Jane Mellin Smith, head majorette, introduced two new strutting techniques to the majorette's repertoire this year. These are the graceful Pony Strut and Formation Strutting. Jan's past experience in majoretting proved to be an asset to the majorettes and L. V. C.

CONCERT BAND

At the close of football season, the "Blue and White Marching Band" becomes a large Concert Band and presents many concerts both on and off campus.

The Concert Band made its first appearance this year, in Engle Hall, April 2 in the Annual Spring Festival. Many outstanding selections were presented. These selections demonstrated the high degree of musical interpretations attained by the band. The band was under the direction of Professor Frank Stackow, Professor of Woodwinds in the Conservatory.

GIRLS' BAND

This is an organization made up entirely of female instrumentalists from the Conservatory and College. This year the girls proudly wore their new uniforms which were bought with the proceeds of last year's concert. The feminine "Bandsters" participated in the half-time festivities at the Home-Coming football game this year and showed the boys that they had some competition.

The girls presented a concert in May as a climax to the year's activities. They played a varied program of marches and novelty numbers, including "Toy Trumpet" and "The Syncopated Clock."

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

The Symphony Orchestra is the outstanding organization on campus, which presents classical works. Shared responsibilities, hard work, and fun—that's what symphony means to its members.

The annual concert, held in Engle Hall, was highlighted by the expert performance of Beethoven's Third Concerto by Mr. William Fairlamb, professor of piano in the Conservatory of Music.

Another area of work and excitement for the symphony has ended.

The Symphony, is at present, under the capable leadership of Dean Carmean, a member of the Conservatory faculty and Dean of Admission.

THE SYMPHONETTE

On November 21st the Symphonette gave its first concert, and very impressive it was, in Engle Hall with Ronald Steele, a Conservatory sophomore, conducting. The Symphonette, a group of thirty students giving their personal time for rehearsal, is a new musical organization on campus organized by Ronald Steele and sponsored by the Student Christian Association. The purpose of the Symphonette is that of broadening experience in orchestral repertoire.

Joyce Snyder, a sophomore in the Conservatory, was the featured soloist. Miss Snyder gave a professional performance of Beethoven's Piano Concerto No. 1 in C Major, Opus 15.

GLEE CLUB

"O Sacred Art, O Music Fair!" These words, taken from a choral adaptation of Chopin's "Etude in E," could easily be used as the motto for this group, composed of forty selected voices.

This year's Glee Club had a widely varied program which reached its climax in the Waring choral arrangement of Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite." Also included were a group of folk-songs and several religious numbers.

The group has sung for several of the campus activities including the Annual Music Festival and Commencement. It has performed on television and has held concerts at Palmyra, Lebanon, Harrisburg, and York.

CHORUS

The Chorus, composed of all the students in the Conservatory and several from the College, presented Elijah in the Annual Music Festival directed by Mr. Reynaldo Rovers.

Appearing with the Chorus were the following outstanding soloists: Suzanne der Derian, soprano; Elma Jean Swope, mezzo soprano; John McCullum, tenor; and Paul King, baritone. Frank Mulheron, Senior in Conservatory, accompanied the entire group on the organ.

The performance of Elijah will long be remembered by all who participated in making it a success.

RECITALS

Recitals are presented throughout the college year by the conservatory faculty and students for the public and campus. These recitals enable the students to perform before others, and they also give the students teachers a chance to introduce their students to the public. Through performing the student increases his experience, and repertoire.

By attending the recitals, the student improves his technique; improves his knowledge in various musical forms; increases his familiarity with the works of masters. These recitals also promote good listening habits.

The 1953 Flying Dutchmen football team, headed by coach Dick Fox, came through with a very commendable 5 win and 2 loss record. Assisting Fox was a former Valley star, Hank DiJohnson.

Led by quarterback Lou Sorrentino and nine other returning lettermen, the Valley had to depend on speed and an explosive aerial attack to win out over Wilkes, P.M.C., Moravian, Albright, and Western Maryland. The greatest victory of the season was the win over Albright in the Pretzel Bowl to avenge the defeat of last year. The two losses to Muhlenberg and Gettysburg, both of which are moving into bigger time football were partly due to the definite lack of reserve strength.

Sorrentino accounted for most of the offensive movement as he hit on over 50% of his passing attempts. Running from the halfback slots were co-captain Dick Musselman and Don DeBenedett, while Ross Plasterer did the line bucking from the fullback position. In the line were ends—Frank Retrievi, George Radonovic, and Gene Zimmerman; tackles—Dick Sparks and Rusty Owens; guards—co-captain Ed Hutchko and Dean Becker; center—Lou Gittleman.

Lou Sorrentino Leads Second Half Rally B Dutchmen Turn Tide — Complete Passes, Carries Ball To Spark LVC Comeback Against Wilkes College Colonels—Visitors Score First Ta Take Halftime Lead —Safety Ends Scoring

A second half rally, which started at the Lebanon Valley School stadium, turned the tide in a 14-0 victory over Wilkes College Colonels in a 14-0 victory over the Wilkes College Colonels in the first meeting between the two schools on the gridiron. The win also opened Lebanon Valley's 5th grid season.

Lou Sorrentino, Lebanon Valley's veteran quarterback, passed for 100 yards and a touchdown, and kicked the extra point. Sorrentino corrected that situation by leading the team down the field by passing the ball to a receiver for a first down. The Dutchmen's first drive in the second half ended in a fumble. LEBANON, Oct. 24.—Lebanon Valley's candidate for All-American, Lou Sorrentino, personally accounted for 18 of the winning 72-yard drive as the Flying Dutchmen defeated Moravian 19-18 before a sparse homecoming crowd today. ## Lou Sorrentino Leads Dutchmen To 13-0 Win

LVC Quarterback Sparks Blue And White Offensive Play — Scores All Points In Game In All-Around Performance To Win Game Award — Dutchmen Take Lead In Series With 15th Win As Coach Dick Fox Squares Account With Albright Coach — Dutchmen Outplay Lions — Put Up Defensive Stands

Lou Sorrentino, the versatile Lion, led the Dutchmen to a surprise 13-0 victory over Albright College in the third annual Shriner-Petzel Bowl game at the Albright Stadium last night. About five thousand children saw the football star drive his team to victory with his personal passing, accurate passing and general direction and control. Sorrentino played a noteworthy all-around performance that established him as a notable player in the Blue and White series. It was such a noteworthy all-around performance that at the conclusion of the game, the Blue and White players unanimously chose him as the outstanding player of the night. For his splendid play, he was awarded a miniature gold football by the District Football Game Committee, as well as Jack Huntzinger, Albright center, as the outstanding performer for the losers. The selections were made by press and radio reporters covering the game.

LVC Wins Trophy The Dutchmen also returned home with it. DeBenedetti and Sorrentino picked up nine yards between them and Sorrentino then passed to the quarterback for a first down. The Lion checked the three-point play, but Muselman and Albright back half of that deflected on the back play.

A personal foul penalty against the Lions then moved the Dutchmen to the one, and Sorrentino promptly snapped over from the one and deflected the extra point. Later in that same third period, the Dutchmen started another scoring drive that started from the Albright back field from his own 40.

In that point, Muselman, tackled off eight yards, and DeBenedetti returned the yardage and Sorrentino picked up three more head coach experience.

Sorrentino then went for nine yards in two carries to move the ball on the Albright 25 on two runs. Muselman picked up three more yards on two carries to move the ball on the Albright 25 on two runs.

Tight Rope Act The Lions yielded only one yard in DeBenedetti's short pass try and Sorrentino's short pass failed to connect, so the Dutchmen were then confronted with four yards and goal in go from fourth down and goal in go from six yards out.

Sorrentino personally undertook the task and swung around right end with a "under rope act" along the sideline for the touch down. And that insurance kick ended the scoring and in all intents and purposes the thirty-first contest of the rivalry series that dates back to 1902.

LVC Leads Series If the Dutchmen won the upper half in the long series with Albright, the Lions won the lower half. The Lions won the lower half of the series in 1902, 1903, 1904, 1905, 1906, 1907, 1908, 1909, 1910, 1911, 1912, 1913, 1914, 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918, 1919, 1920, 1921, 1922, 1923, 1924, 1925, 1926, ## Sorrentino Leads Dutchmen to Win

LEBANON, Nov. 14—Sparked by the all-around play of quarterback Lou Sorrentino, Lebanon Valley scored in the final period to defeat Western Maryland 32-20 before a Parents Day crowd of 1,500 here today.

Sorrentino, who scored two touchdowns himself and passed for a third, rolled up 293 yards total offense, 224 of it through his passes. He completed 20 tosses in 40 attempts.

Lebanon Valley scored first on a 72-yard drive with Sorrentino plunging over from the one. The try for the extra point was missed.

Western Maryland went ahead in the second quarter following a 53-yard drive, with Warren Bimestefer passing two yards to Arnie Needleman for the TD. Dick Rausch kicked the extra point.

Center Ed Hutchko put Lebanon Valley back into the game when he intercepted Bimestefer's pass and returned it 32 yards to the Dixielanders three.

Dick Musselman plunged over from the one for the score, then Sorrentino pass for the bonus point.

Western Maryland knotted the score on a 72-yard touchdown drive climaxed by a five-yard pass from Al Miller to Bimestefer. The score stood at 13 all at halftime.

A 16-yard pass play, Bimestefer to Bob Butler, put the Marylanders out in front in the third period, and Rausch's kick made it Western Maryland 20 Lebanon Valley 13. This was the Terror's last scoring effort of the day.

Lebanon Valley's Flying Dutchmen registered the first of three last quarter touchdowns when Sorrentino hit Musselman with a 28-yard aerial. Sorrentino's kick was wide for the point.

Lebanon Valley's High Flying Dutchmen, for the second straight year under the capable tutelage of Coach "Rinso" Marquette, had a very successful season. Comprising the Valley team were three veterans in "Howie" Landa, Lou Sorrentino, and Herb Finkelstein plus Freshmen Dick Shover and Don Reinhard. Coming off the bench and helping the starting five many times were Freshmen Bob Nelson and Juniors Ken Ellis and "Howie" Kosier. Landa posted the best average with 21.5 points per game followed by Finkelstein and Sorrentino with 15.5 and 14 respectively. Finkelstein and Reinhard led the rebounding department while Landa led in assists breaking several records.

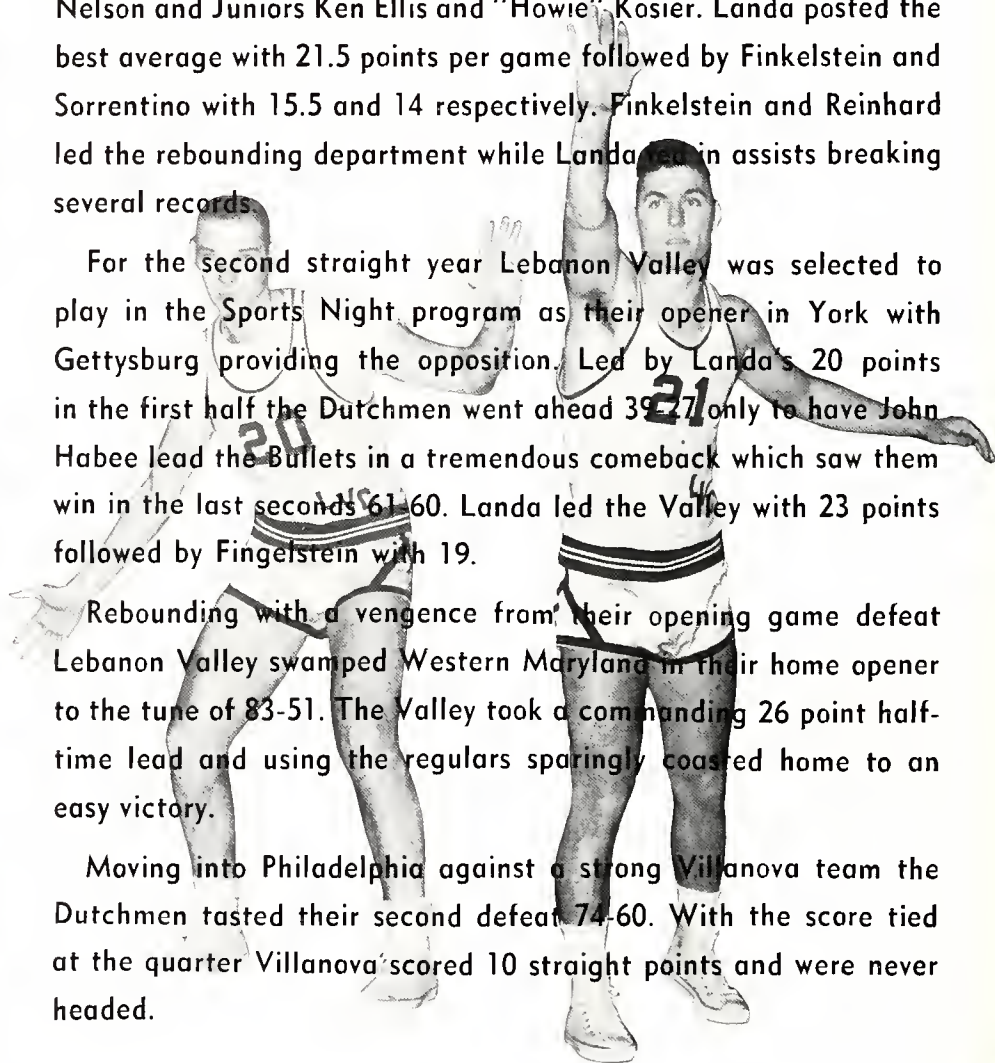

For the second straight year Lebanon Valley was selected to play in the Sports Night program as their opener in York with Gettysburg providing the opposition. Led by Landa's 20 points in the first half the Dutchmen went ahead 39-27 only to have John Habee lead the Bullets in a tremendous comeback which saw them win in the last seconds 61-60. Landa led the Valley with 23 points followed by Finkelstein with 19.

Rebounding with a vengeance from their opening game defeat Lebanon Valley swamped Western Maryland in their home opener to the tune of 83-51. The Valley took a commanding 26 point half-time lead and using the regulars sparingly coasted home to an easy victory.

Moving into Philadelphia against a strong Villanova team the Dutchmen tasted their second defeat 74-60. With the score tied at the quarter Villanova scored 10 straight points and were never headed.

Lou Sorrentino

Trailing late in the first quarter at 16-12 Lebanon Valley got rolling against P. M. C. and won a convincing 84-54 victory. Finkelstein led the attack with 22 points followed by Landa and Sorrentino with 13 and 10 respectively. Herb showed amazing accuracy from the field hitting on 9 shots in 9 attempts.

Scranton was the next opponent to move into Annville and Coach Marquette's basketballers breezed to an easy 78-46 victory. The visitors made a game of it for a few minutes but after going ahead 12-10, Valley had little trouble. Landa and Sorrentino shared honors with 24 and 18 points respectively.

In one of the most exciting games ever witnessed on the Lynch Memorial floor Lebanon Valley's dribblers went into an overtime with Temple and came out the victors 62-58. Suffering from a "field goal famine" at the outstart, the Dutchmen resorted to a pressing attack and overcame a 13 point Temple lead. Landa had 21 while Sorrentino hit for 15 to lead the "iron men."

In the return match at Philadelphia the Dutchmen were met by a vengeance filled Temple team and lost 76-63. Landa accounted for 30 points in a brilliant effort to pull the game out of the fire.

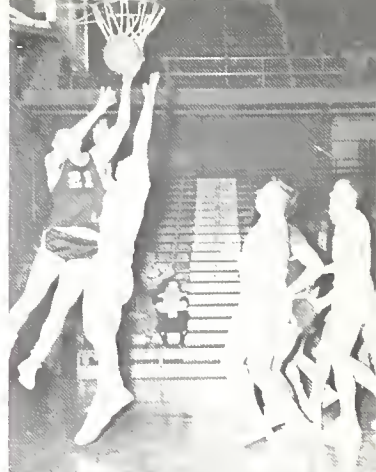

Returning from the holidays, the team journeyed to Elizabethtown where they were the victims of the Jay's smaller court and a deadly set shot artist in Sal Paone. The final score was 77-74 with Landa having another brilliant night sinking 32 points.

In a game that went into two overtimes Lebanon Valley managed to score a 75-71 victory over their arch-rival Albright. The losses of Reinhrad and Nelson in the late minutes somewhat affected the Valley but in the end the veterans led the way. Landa, Finkelstein, and Sorrentino hit for 27, 22, and 15 points respectively.

Moving into Allentown, the Dutchmen faced a strong Muhlenberg quintet and with Landa scoring 35 plus Sorrentino's 18 points the Valley pulled the game out of the fire 86-83. Land's 35 points gave him an all-career total of 1,047 setting a new school record. Floyd Becker previously held it with 1,016 points.

Freshman Dick Shover led the way with 22 points as Lebanon Valley returned home to defeat Juniata 86-57.

In a return game with Elizabethtown this time on the home floor, the Valley proved itself to be the better team as the Jays fell 91-69. Herb Finkelstein led the way with 30 points followed by Landa and Sorrentino with 21 each.

With Landa setting five individual records the Dutchmen easily defeated Dickenson 81-55. Landa set records in total points scored 42, fouls shot and made 22, 21 foul shots completed in a row, 26 fouls attempted, and a scoring record for the Dickenson floor. After a tight first half, the Valley outscored their opponents 32-10 in the third period and coasted to victory.

The Flying Dutchmen had little trouble with Western Maryland as they easily defeated the Green Terrors 94-69. Landa was high with 26 points followed by Sorrentino, Finkelstein, and Shover with 19, 15, and 13 points respectively.

Don Reinhard

Bob Nelson

Held in check for two quarters by a tall Upsala team, the Dutchmen found the range in the third quarter and rolled to an easy 79-50 victory. Sorrentino was high with 28 while Landa collected 19 points.

Moving into Philadelphia for the third time, Lebanon Valley found little trouble in defeating Drexel 76-51. Led by the terrific rebounding and scoring of Reinhard assisted by Land's and Finkelstein's timely scoring, the Valley had a comparatively easy time of it.

In a home and away series L. V. met Marquette and defeated them 78-58 and 69-55 running their victory skid to 15 games. In the first game Finkelstein passed the 1,000 point mark. Playing a strong first half and holding on the second half the Marquettemen defeated Albright 69-57. Landa moved into the pivot and did the assisting as four of his teammates hit in the double figures.

For the third straight year, the Valley came out the victor over "Gus" Lovett and his F and M five. Lovett was held in check while Landa drove around and under him for 27 points.

Juniata was the scene of the halt to a 16 game Valley winning streak as they defeated the Dutchmen 77-75, using and also administered a physical beating. Shover was high for L. V. with 22 points.

In their final game of the season the Marquettemen beat Dickinson 88-76. Landa had his second great night against the boys from Carlisle as he swished 38 points. Finkelstein and Sorrentino finished their court careers with 18 and 14 respectively.

NAIA TOURNAMENT

Once again Lebanon Valley was chosen to play in a post season tournament—this time the NAIA—a small college affair. The Dutchmen needed two victories to represent their district out in Kansas City. In their final game they easily defeated Millersville by the score of 81-64. Sorrentino led the attack as "Rinso's raider" turned a closely contested first few minutes into a complete rout. This victory gave Valley the right to meet Geneva of Western Pennsylvania for representation at Kansas City, However, Geneva's Bill Blair with 38 points plus injuries from the Juniata game the night before proved too much of an obstacle to overcome as the Valley fell 77-64. Thus ended the hopes of a Dutchmen Tournament win but with the victory over Dickinson the Valleyites closed a successful season with a 19-6 record.

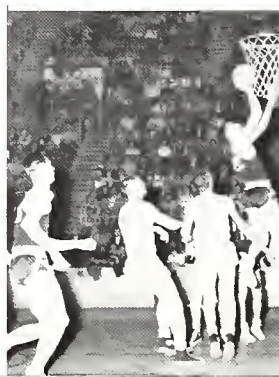

Three individuals from L. V. got recognition by the A.P. and U.P. as Landa won honorable mention on the U.P.'s All American Team and a berth on the All State Second Team. Sorrentino and Finkelstein won honorable mention on the All State Team.

JUNIOR VARSITY

The Lebanon Valley Junior Dutchmen with a not too impressive over-all record did manage to come through with some fine play at the end of the season. The greatest victory of the year was over Millersville in the preliminary to the tournament game. Leading the attack were Ken Schuler, Larry Mentzer, Jim Stanfield, Gene Zimmerman, and Ross Plasterer. They were ably assisted by Bob Birch, Hal Benninghoff, Don Banchik and Larry Zeigler. Although they didn't always come out on top it is highly probable that Coach Fox moulded some prospective varsity material.

WOMEN'S HOCKEY TEAM

Although the Lebanon Valley Women's Hockey team won no games during the 1953 season, they displayed in all their encounters sportsmanship and the "never say die" attitude which has characterized Lebanon Valley's teams for many years. They started the season with a great deal of spirit; and, although defeated in their last game, this spirit was still evident in their playing.

The most spectacular game of the season was held on Homecoming Day, October 24th, with Shippensburg State Teachers College. The Lebanon Valley girls kept pace with the team from S.S.T.C. until the last five minutes. In these few precious minutes, Shippensburg scored two goals to become victorious 5-3.

On October 31st, Lebanon Valley College played host to three other hockey teams in the annual All-College Tournament. These teams were from Albright, Bucknell University and Lock Haven State Teachers College. Girls were then chosen to play in the Central Penn Tournament at Wilson College at Chambersburg. Irene Urian, a sophomore, was chosen to play on the first team. Evelyn Eby, a senior, finished her college hockey career by making the second team. Honorable mention was given to Gail Edgar, also a senior, and Mary Lou Young, a junior.

With the addition of several capable freshmen girls on the team this year, and the loss of only two seniors who will be graduating, the prospects for next year's season stand as good at this point. Whether or not they will have a winning season, the women's hockey team will be a team with the "will to win."

THE FLYING DUTCHGIRLS

Coach Betty Jane Bowman had the advantage of having many varsity players returning from last year's squad. Many outstanding players from the freshman class helped round out the squad.

The season wasn't very successful as the team lost a majority of its games, but through good teamwork and spirit it accomplished a great deal.

GIRLS' J.V. BASKETBALL

The junior varsity basketball team came through the season with a record of four wins and five losses. This was very impressive as all but a few were freshmen. They got off to a good start by beating Millersville S.T.C. in the first game. The most exciting game of the season however, was away at Millersville when the junior Dutchgirls played a nip-and-tuck game the whole way through, and in the last few minutes pulled away to win by a mere three point margin. Due to the sharp-shooting of Sylvia Edris and the expert guarding of Joanee Young, the final score was 29-26. The team as a whole deserves much credit and many congratulations for having a very good season.

BOYS' CHAMPIONSHIP BASKETBALL TEAM VS. GIRLS' "?" BASKETBALL TEAM

On the evening of March 18, 1954, the students of Lebanon Valley College witnessed the most exciting basketball game of the entire season. As a climax to a tremendous record of wins the boy's varsity basketball team played the girls' team for the championship of the college.

As in other years the boys were seriously handicapped. They had to play girls' rules, they weren't allowed to jump, and they had to shoot with their left hands. The non-jump part, however, wasn't too effective against Kosier, Reinhard, and Nelson.

The fascinating part of the game was the adeptness with which Howie Landa,, Lou Sorrentino, and Herb Finkelstein handled the ball in passing.

Despite the boys' tricky left-handed hooks and peeps and the inability of the girls to compensate for the bursts of speed of their opponents, the score was very close until the remaining three minutes. At this point the entire squad of girls mounted the floor against the starting five. At this point, to confuse things a little more, two more balls appeared from somewhere. The final score, with a few miscalculations was 24-23 in favor of the girls.

The long and short of it.

"L" CLUB

Resuming its usual active program, the "L" Club has again disproven "the big, dumb athlete myth" and taken its place among the leading organization on campus. This year, in coordination with the college Athletic Council, the club members once again did a smashing job of add peddling for the football programs. The bib club fling was the annual "L" club homecoming dance. With Frank Retriei at the reigns, the "L" men again came through with a top notch affair. The theme of the dance, Mr. Touchdown, L.V.C., was enacted to the "T", or rather to the "L", by the decorations and general presentation of the dance.

The organization's year ended with the annual "All Sports" Banquet and the presentation of awards to the lettermen.

W. A. A.

The Women's Athletic Association has this year under president Rosie Hollinger greatly improved its annual intramural program. It has added several new sports such as hockey and co-ed archery tournaments. These, plus many other activities, such as the annual freshman hike and intramural ping pong, basketball, volleyball, softball highlight the W.A.A. yearly program. These various sports activities give extra-curricular enjoyment to the women of the college. Through this much improved program, the number of initiates this year was very high. The annual banquet was held in the spring (at the American Legion in Annville). Here the girls earning enough points were awarded their chenille "L's," gold "L's" and blazers, the latter being the highest honor achieved by a member of W.A.A. All in all this proved to be a very fruitful year for the organization with high hopes of an even better one next year.
